TARGET AUDIENCE

This course is designed specifically for physicians. It is also appropriate for physician spouses and significant others and all other members of the delivery team who are in high stress positions. This can include APP's, nurses, nursing assistants, members of the administrative staff and any other member of the organization who would benefit from stress management and burnout prevention training.

METHODOLOGY

A highly interactive, live training and coaching session. Content on stress and burnout is delivered in small, easily digestible portions followed by discussion in pairs - so that each attendee creates a personal stress reduction action plan. The presentation utilizes PowerPoint, flip charts, fill in the blank handouts, dyads and other multisensory learning techniques to create a unique, powerful and “lecture-free” learning zone.

The typical delivery is to a provider audience on a 90 minute timeline. This can be an evening event for Healthcare Organizations or a Keynote Session if you are planning a society/association conference. In addition, Burnout Proof can be customized to fit a 60 minute to half day time frame for any audience working in any healthcare setting.

CONTEXT:

Research in 2014 shows 54% of US physicians suffering from burnout on any given office day. Some surveys show burnout rates over 70%. Physician burnout and its complications are the #1 threat to a physician's medical career. All healthcare professionals experience similar workplace stressors. Doctors, APP's, nurses, allied health workers and even hospital administrators are all at risk.

Research shows higher levels of provider burnout are associated with

- Lower levels of patient care quality and patient satisfaction
- Higher levels of clinical errors, malpractice claims and physician and staff turnover
- Higher levels of physician disruptive behavior, substance abuse and suicide
